The Garden Fairy and her faery friends just love Summertime...

In the wide, wonderful world... wherever we live,
Fairies and children love summertime.

Playing in forest glens with secret places,
Peeking through trees at happy fairy faces.

Running through golden fields of rye,
Marveling at how fast our tiny feet fly.

Skipping through waves tossed in from the sea
Feeling salty warmth of a trade wind breeze.

Watching the water in a sweet mountain stream
Dreaming a sunny peace-filled fairy dream.

In the wide, wonderful world... wherever we live,
Fairies and children love summertime.

"A strange thing happened today! I was watering the flowers when I caught a glimpse of something on the path . . . On closer inspection, I could clearly see that it was a set of tiny, wet footprints! Each tiny print was no longer than a quarter of an inch" I have some knowledge of animal footprints, and "I am convinced that these little prints were not from any ordinary creature. I think that they could perhaps belong to fairies, but I will have to wait to see" . .

Please join us for this day of whimsical pleasures and find some delightful treasures, you will more than enjoy your day
